What is Kratom?

Kratom (Mitragyna speciosa)

Is a large tree of the coffee family. Native to Southeast Asia, Kratom can grow up to 60 feet tall. Kratom comes from a tree in Southeast Asia called Mitragyna speciosa, according to the DEA. The leaves of the tree have psychoactive properties

RED THAI KRATOM

GreenLab

Red Maeng Da Kratom is a strain of red vein kratom originated in Thailand. What makes Maeng Da unique is that it is the result of grafting several carefully-selected strains together. By fusing more potent and effective red vein kratom strains together, farmers produced a red kratom crop with significantly enhanced alkaloid levels and therefore effects.

Thailand enjoys a warm and tropical climate that supports healthy and productive kratom farming. Additionally, Thailand tends to have more acidic soil than some other regions. These conditions often result in red vein kratom strains that are quite high in both Mitragynine and 7-hydroxymitragynine – the two alkaloids believed to be most important for producing Kratom's unique effects

The story of red kratom begins with the leaves of the Mitragyna speciosa tree, a plant that grows naturally in Thailand. For hundreds of years, native populations in countries like Thailand, Indonesia and Malaysia have harvested the leaves of the kratom plant and utilized them for both medicinal and recreational purposes.

In many areas, this is a generational job, as the indigenous people of the area have cultivated Kratom as a medicinal plant for hundreds of years. Families work their small garden-farms and use Kratom as a cash crop to resist displacement by larger timber deforestation efforts and mono cultivar oil palm plantations. Green Lab work with these families to create a sustainable supply of Kratom for our customers, environmentally-friendly cultivation for the environment, and fair trade compensation to protect their way of life.

RED THAI KRATOM

Red Vein Kratom

One of the most popular Kratom strains on the market, red vein Thai Kratom's aroma is considered invigorating and is perfect for meditation focused on managing a busy life and the aches and pains of a busy and active lifestyle. It is generally regarded as a good place to begin for those unfamiliar with the plant.

Red vein kratom is known as the relaxing strain, helping you unwind after a long day. We're excited to bring our customers an exclusive selection of premium red vein Kratom. All red vein kratom strains come straight from the local Thai farms and we export our red vein kratom using Fair Trade practices, testing every batch for quality assurance.

Green Lab applied the strictest standards to our production process to guarantee that each and every Kratom red vein product exceeds your expectations. We strive to ensure all of our Kratom meets these qualifications:

- ✓ 100% free of any chemicals, additives, or fillers;

- ✓ Export using Fair Trade practices directly from Thailand.

Whether you're taking red fresh leaves, kratom capsules, powder, tea, or any other form of red vein kratom, proper dosage is going to depend on a wide variety of factors. These include your reasons for taking kratom red, your past experience with kratom, your body's tolerance for it, and a host of other personal and biochemical factors. As such, it is virtually impossible to recommend a one-size-fits-all dosage for red vein kratom. As a rule of thumb, we strongly recommend starting out small, especially for new users. Red Maeng Da tends to have higher overall alkaloid content than other red kratom strains. So your ideal dosage may be lower than if you were using a different red kratom.

At Green Lab, we put our customers' satisfaction and safety first. Every batch and every strain of our red vein kratom products is rigorously tested for purity and potency. We have comprehensive Certificates of Analysis to demonstrate the strength and safety of our product. Our customer support team is responsive, knowledgeable, and equipped with everything you need to make the right decision for your needs.

Green Lab red kratom is sourced from the world's most experienced and responsible farms, hand selected based on their experience, transparency, and sustainable agricultural practices. We bring passion and expertise to every aspect of what we do - and it's a difference you'll see in our product.

RED THAI KRATOM Dosage

Dosing will always be different for every individual depending on their physical build, needs, preferences, and the type of kratom taken. One thing to remember for Red Thai is its potency and its range of effects. It is best to start slow with a lower dose to see its effects for yourself before jumping in to a high dosage immediately.

For beginners or first time Red Thai users, 1 to 2 grams is the starting dose. If you just want a mood and energy boost, this is going to do the trick. If you're looking for the first two effects with a mind and body calm, the moderate dose of 3 to 4 grams is recommended. This is the usual dose for most users. If you want an extremely potent kick of sedation, a dose of 5 to 6 grams will let you doze off like a baby

GREEN THAI KRATOM

As the name suggests, the Green Vein Thai strain originates from Thailand. It is thereby grown there. The evergreen tree from which farmers get leaves used for producing different types of strains is called the Mitragnya species.

Over the years, the people of Thailand have been using and enjoying the Green Vein Thai Kratom. The strain is very popular among manual laborers who use it to boost their energy for increased production. During the day, they become very active.

The Green Thai Kratom also enables them to combat fatigue and work with full concentration while earning a living. This explains why the strain is most popular in local communities. We, therefore, suggest that you try it and experience the positive result.

GREEN THAI KRATOM

The Green Thai Kratom is similar to other green vein strains, but its difference lies in the fact that it is grown only in Thailand. The majority of consumers believe that the properties of the Green Vein Thai are unique because it has a concentration of high levels of alkaloids. Naturally, Green Vein Kratoms maintain a balanced degree of alkaloids. Such a feature improves the durability of the kratom.

Green Thai Kratom is the middle ground between White and Red Thai Kratom strains. As such, its alkaloid (mitragynine and 7-hydroxy mitragynine) composition is balanced which makes it one of the moderate green vein varieties available.

Whether you are an experienced Kratom user or thinking about adding Kratom into your health regimen, Green Thai Kratom is the absolute choice. With its unusually smooth and balanced alkaloid profile, our Green Thai Kratom provides relatively mild effects that last for hours.

Green Thai Kratom Effects

Green Thai Kratom will generate significant effects if the dosage is taken as prescribed. Taking the appropriate dosage of this strain would provide the following results:

- Energy-boosting: Green Vein Thai Kratom is remarkable for its potential to boost energy. Many people prefer to take the Green Thai as a substitute for caffeine. Consequently, they gain sufficient strength and become more productive even while doing a stressful job. Typically, if a person takes a dose, its effects would last for a whole day with improved vigor. Therefore, a single dose is enough for 24 hours.
 - Mood enhancement: The Green Vein Thai Kratom produces a calming effect on its users. It can make them smile and relaxed. However, the level of tolerance by each individual largely determines the euphoric effects the strain will leave on them. While some individuals require a high dosage to attain the impact, some require a low dosage. Meanwhile, many consumers have reported peace of mind after using Green Vein Thai.

Green Thai Kratom Effects

- Reduction of social anxiety: Many consumers use the Green Thai Kratom to get rid of social anxiety. If you fear that you might feel nervous at a social event, you can take the Green Vein Thai Kratom to kill stress. It will engender confidence and elicit a feeling of peace and composure in you at any social event.
- Pain relief: Green Thai Vein Kratom works well for acute and chronic pain. Unlike the red strain, it does not make users drowsy.
- A feeling of well-being: The majority of users who have provided feedback on the effects of Green Thai Kratom have admitted that they always feel good after using it. In addition to feeling good, it helps them to sustain mental focus and achieve confidence. However, its alkaloids content is high when compared with other Green strains. Hence, many consumers now substitute their regular cup of coffee or tea with this green strain.

GREEN THAI KRATOM Dosage

Before taking the Green Thai Kratom strains, you must consider the factors listed below.

- Age
- weight of the user
- gender,
- The period of use
- Whether taking other medications

Typically, the following dosages are recommended based on Individual tolerance levels:

- Beginners should take between 1 and 3 grams. If the effect is still low, then it can be increased to a medium dosage between 3 and 5 grams.
- Regular users can take up to a dosage of 5 grams. Generally, the maximum dosage to take, if necessary, is 8 grams because taking more than that could lead to severe side effects.

As you may be aware, the higher dose you take above the recommended dosage, the higher the possibility of side effects.

WHITE THAI KRATOM

White Maeng Da Kratom is a variety of kratom that has its origins in Thailand. White strains, it is made from kratom leaf that is harvested early in the growth cycle with high in Mitragnine levels. Maeng Da kratom it's high quality and potency. White Maeng Da kratom is made by splicing several regional varieties of kratom together, deliberately combining the desirable properties of several white kratom plants to create a sort of super-crop. The result is a white kratom strain of unusually high potency and alkaloid content.

Amongst the most effective and stimulating White variants of Kratom is the White Vein Thai Kratom. White Thai is mostly preferred by customers who use it for the sharp and instant energy boost it offer seven in little amounts. Also, it has a long-lasting effect compared with other variants, meaning that, for most users, a small dose can be very effective.

WHITE THAI KRATOM

White Vein Thai is popular for its potential to provoke a feeling of happiness and stability. Therefore, it is mostly in use for recreational purposes, it is also very useful for those in tedious jobs to cope with high-demanding and long work hours.

Like its red and green cousins, white vein kratom is a class of kratom defined by the color of the plant's veins and stem prior to harvesting. The color of white vein kratom indicates the maturity of the leaf and the alkaloid content of the plants.

As kratom leaves mature, their veins shift from white to green to red, meaning that white vein kratom is made from kratom leaves in their earliest harvestable state. Harvesting white kratom at this time also affects the levels of alkaloids in the leaf, including Mitragynine and 7-hydroxymitragynine, the compounds responsible for Kratom's unique effects.

WHITE THAI KRATOM

GREEN LAB

Generally speaking, white vein kratom strains have the highest ratio of Mitragynine to 7- hydroxymitragynine. That's because white kratom leaf is harvested at the earliest viable stages of kratom farming. The color of kratom leaf veins and stems is determined by their age and, more directly, the balance of alkaloids they contain. As kratom leaves mature, the concentration of Mitragynine diminishes and the concentration of 7-hydroxymitragynine increases. This change in the ratio of natural alkaloids is what causes the shift in Kratom's white veins to green and, eventually, red. White vein kratom is, in this way, the youngest version of green and red kratom but is also the version that is highest in Mitragynine levels.

- Leisure and recreation: With a busy life on the increase, most people find it hard to loosen up after a long day. Some of these people make use of White Thai Kratom in the evening, for relaxation and also to enjoy various aspects of their lives, like the relationship with their friends, volunteering, hobbies, and others.

WHITE THAI KRATOM Dosage

Proper white vein kratom dosage is one of the most important aspects of ensuring a positive experience with kratom use. However, it is virtually impossible to provide a one-size-fits-all dosing recommendation, as there are a huge variety of factors to consider. Also depend on your height and weight, your experience with and tolerance for kratom, and a number of other physiological factors. We always recommend that you start with a very small dosage whenever you begin using a new strain. That is especially important when you choose a strain of white vein kratom with higher than average alkaloid levels. Maeng Da kratom, for instance, is renowned in kratom communities such for its potency.

White Vein Thai Kratom has very strong effects; additional precautions must be taken when experimenting with a new dose. Those that are taking the Kratom for the first time should not exceed 1 gram. But, if you have experienced other strains, you will receive most of the benefits of White Vein Thai with a moderate dose of 2 to 3 grams without experiencing any unwanted side effects.

Frequent users can consume up to 6 grams for stronger euphoria. Taking anything above this amount is going to likely result in a negative effect.
